About photo access:

Located at the Manuka Arts Centre in Canberra, ACT, photo access is an established non-profit, member-based organisation fostering excellence in the photographic arts and developing understanding and appreciation of photographic culture.

Each year, we present a dynamic series of exhibitions featuring emerging and established photographers and photo-artists. We also curate and commission exhibitions with partner organisations and venues. photo access manages south-eastern Australia's only publicly accessible darkroom and provides a digital imaging suite, supporting the production of new work across photographic media through exhibition, residency and network-building opportunities.

We work to extend community access to the photographic arts, offering a wide range of creative workshops for adults and children and a suite of award-winning outreach programs.
